

Congratulations

PROFESSOR SAMUEL TAKAVARASHA JR

Chairman of the Postal and Telecommunications Regulatory Authority of Zimbabwe (POTRAZ)

Women's University in Africa (WUA) is delighted to congratulate Professor Samuel Takavarasha Jr, Director of the University's Research, Innovation and Postgraduate Centre, on his appointment as Chairman of the Postal and Telecommunications Regulatory Authority of Zimbabwe (POTRAZ).

This prestigious national appointment reflects Professor Takavarasha's exceptional leadership, professional excellence, and longstanding dedication to advancing research, innovation, and national development. His recognition at this level is a proud moment for the University community and a strong endorsement of the calibre of expertise within WUA.

As an institution committed to impactful scholarship and innovation, we celebrate Professor Takavarasha's achievement as both a personal milestone and a testament to the meaningful contributions our academic leaders continue to make to Zimbabwe's socio-economic transformation.

WUA extends its warmest congratulations and wishes Professor Takavarasha success in his new role as he provides visionary leadership to Zimbabwe's telecommunications and digital innovation sector. We remain confident that his appointment will strengthen the national innovation ecosystem and further enhance WUA's visibility and contribution to national development.

Congratulations, Professor Takavarasha!

We are proud to be associated with your continued excellence.

